

Ashford's Response to the Coronavirus (COVID-19)

News of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak has captured national attention and is of concern to us all. With the health and safety of members of the University community remaining of paramount importance, we are reaching out today to share with you that Ashford University continues to closely monitor federal agencies and public health organizations for updates and guidance: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention - About Coronavirus Disease 2019 \(COVID-19\) and World Health Organization - Coronavirus disease \(COVID-19\) advice for the public

Recognizing that the impact of events of this kind extend beyond our immediate physical wellbeing, we also want to make you aware of some resources that will help with navigating stress and supporting children during times of increased stress.

As always, please reach out to your Academic Advisor to discuss your unique academic needs, and to the Student Advocate Helpline at HELP@Ashford.edu to request contact from a Student Advocate for assistance identifying supportive services in your area.

Take good care and thank you for all that you bring to the Ashford community!
