“Talk to any successful woman and you’ll likely hear a tale of how having someone champion and guide them, particularly at critical junctures, made a profound impact on the trajectory of their career. Mentorship matters - expanding horizons, challenging beliefs, and opening doorways that may otherwise have remained closed. So if you’re unsure whether the CWL mentoring program is for you, just say Yes! You have little to lose but a wealth of hard-won wisdom and opportunities to gain.”

MARGIE WARRELL, CEO OF GLOBAL COURAGE LEADERSHIP & FORBES SCHOOL OF BUSINESS & TECHNOLOGY ADVISORY BOARD MEMBER

The Center for Women’s Leadership Mentoring Program supports the CWL’s vision and mission by fostering productive, development-focused relationships between high-achieving, successful women leaders and University students and alumni. In partnership with the university’s peer mentoring initiatives, the CWL Mentoring Program offers 10 weeks of guided reflection, conversation, and application of ideas designed to empower future women leaders in the organizations and communities they serve by: developing their commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and empowerment; increasing their awareness of resour-es, tools, and opportunities that will help them develop their leadership potential; and, expanding their capacity for professional networking for career advancement.

Program mentors and mentees are carefully paired for success through an application and algorithm process. Each pair meets at least once a week in a method they choose. Video conferencing/chat is recommended to help build strong relationships. The program consists of eight powerful modules that provide action items, resources, and ideas for application.
